

The Comus Club
(<http://www.comus.org.uk/>)

Dear Alex Arbuthnott,

Following the most recent Comus Club meeting, I would like to cordially invite you to become a member of the Comus Club. The Comus Club is essentially the alumni organization for 'The Other Society' (Dramsoc). The Comus Club has a membership list of nearly 300 members and we have many more who we have lost contact with over the years. Invitation for membership is based on an active participation in 'The Other Society' and involvement in at least 2 'Other Society' shows.

If you would like to join the club, please fill out the enclosed membership form and return it to the College Secretary (Andre Refig). Although membership of the Comus Club is 'technically' free, you are strongly advised to purchase a Comus Club tie to avoid financial penalties (mentioned below) at the various social events held throughout the year. Ties are available from the Club Treasurer (Laurie Tweedale)

Regards,

Brian Tucker
Comus Club Chairman

The Comus Club

As an organization, The Comus Club, provides a link between the past and current members of 'The Other Society'. This bridge is maintained by a Bar Night in the Union Bar every First Tuesday of the month and the organisation of an annual Dinner that, by tradition, is always held on the second Friday after the First Tuesday in January. The annual Dinner normally attracts an attendance of around 100 members.

The Comus Club has several traditions, of which one carries a potentially 'costly' forfeit if not adhered too! If you accept membership of the Comus Club you will be asked to purchase a Comus Club Tie. If, on a First Tuesday, you are unable to produce the tie if asked to do so by another member of the Club, you are expected to buy a round of drinks for all Comus Club members present. Another tradition is the concept of 'The Pin'. When a Comus Club member elects to enter the state of '(w)holy' matrimony, they are presented with a rolling pin painted in the Comus Club colours. The Pin is inscribed with the 'wisdom' of the Club membership at the annual Dinner before being presented to the Comus Club member concerned.

'The 50 Club'

'The 50 Club' is a twice-yearly prize draw. '50 Club' membership is open to any member and costs £10 a year paid by Standing Order at the beginning of each calendar year. The money raised is used to pay out the prizes won at each draw and the remainder is used to help cover costs associated with running the Club such as postage for the Dinner invitations. The first draw takes place at the Dinner in January and has a first prize of £100. The second draw takes place at the Comus Club meeting during the summer. The first prize at this draw is £75. There are an additional five prizes of £20 also available at each draw. If you would like more information about 'The 50 Club', please do not hesitate to contact a member of the Comus Club committee. If you would like to join 'The 50 Club', you will find a Standing Order Mandate overleaf.

The Comus Club
(<http://www.comus.org.uk/>)

Dear Alison Silver,

Following the most recent Comus Club meeting, I would like to cordially invite you to become a member of the Comus Club. The Comus Club is essentially the alumni organization for 'The Other Society' (Dramsoc). The Comus Club has a membership list of nearly 300 members and we have many more who we have lost contact with over the years. Invitation for membership is based on an active participation in 'The Other Society' and involvement in at least 2 'Other Society' shows.

If you would like to join the club, please fill out the enclosed membership form and return it to the College Secretary (Andre Refig). Although membership of the Comus Club is 'technically' free, you are strongly advised to purchase a Comus Club tie to avoid financial penalties (mentioned below) at the various social events held throughout the year. Ties are available from the Club Treasurer (Laurie Tweedale)

Regards,

Brian Tucker
Comus Club Chairman

The Comus Club

As an organization, The Comus Club, provides a link between the past and current members of 'The Other Society'. This bridge is maintained by a Bar Night in the Union Bar every First Tuesday of the month and the organisation of an annual Dinner that, by tradition, is always held on the second Friday after the First Tuesday in January. The annual Dinner normally attracts an attendance of around 100 members.

The Comus Club has several traditions, of which one carries a potentially 'costly' forfeit if not adhered too! If you accept membership of the Comus Club you will be asked to purchase a Comus Club Tie. If, on a First Tuesday, you are unable to produce the tie if asked to do so by another member of the Club, you are expected to buy a round of drinks for all Comus Club members present. Another tradition is the concept of 'The Pin'. When a Comus Club member elects to enter the state of '(w)holy' matrimony, they are presented with a rolling pin painted in the Comus Club colours. The Pin is inscribed with the 'wisdom' of the Club membership at the annual Dinner before being presented to the Comus Club member concerned.

'The 50 Club'

'The 50 Club' is a twice-yearly prize draw. '50 Club' membership is open to any member and costs £10 a year paid by Standing Order at the beginning of each calendar year. The money raised is used to pay out the prizes won at each draw and the remainder is used to help cover costs associated with running the Club such as postage for the Dinner invitations. The first draw takes place at the Dinner in January and has a first prize of £100. The second draw takes place at the Comus Club meeting during the summer. The first prize at this draw is £75. There are an additional five prizes of £20 also available at each draw. If you would like more information about 'The 50 Club', please do not hesitate to contact a member of the Comus Club committee. If you would like to join 'The 50 Club', you will find a Standing Order Mandate overleaf.

The Comus Club
(<http://www.comus.org.uk/>)

Dear Amadeus Stevenson,

Following the most recent Comus Club meeting, I would like to cordially invite you to become a member of the Comus Club. The Comus Club is essentially the alumni organization for 'The Other Society' (Dramsoc). The Comus Club has a membership list of nearly 300 members and we have many more who we have lost contact with over the years. Invitation for membership is based on an active participation in 'The Other Society' and involvement in at least 2 'Other Society' shows.

If you would like to join the club, please fill out the enclosed membership form and return it to the College Secretary (Andre Refig). Although membership of the Comus Club is 'technically' free, you are strongly advised to purchase a Comus Club tie to avoid financial penalties (mentioned below) at the various social events held throughout the year. Ties are available from the Club Treasurer (Laurie Tweedale)

Regards,

Brian Tucker
Comus Club Chairman

The Comus Club

As an organization, The Comus Club, provides a link between the past and current members of 'The Other Society'. This bridge is maintained by a Bar Night in the Union Bar every First Tuesday of the month and the organisation of an annual Dinner that, by tradition, is always held on the second Friday after the First Tuesday in January. The annual Dinner normally attracts an attendance of around 100 members.

The Comus Club has several traditions, of which one carries a potentially 'costly' forfeit if not adhered too! If you accept membership of the Comus Club you will be asked to purchase a Comus Club Tie. If, on a First Tuesday, you are unable to produce the tie if asked to do so by another member of the Club, you are expected to buy a round of drinks for all Comus Club members present. Another tradition is the concept of 'The Pin'. When a Comus Club member elects to enter the state of '(w)holy' matrimony, they are presented with a rolling pin painted in the Comus Club colours. The Pin is inscribed with the 'wisdom' of the Club membership at the annual Dinner before being presented to the Comus Club member concerned.

'The 50 Club'

'The 50 Club' is a twice-yearly prize draw. '50 Club' membership is open to any member and costs £10 a year paid by Standing Order at the beginning of each calendar year. The money raised is used to pay out the prizes won at each draw and the remainder is used to help cover costs associated with running the Club such as postage for the Dinner invitations. The first draw takes place at the Dinner in January and has a first prize of £100. The second draw takes place at the Comus Club meeting during the summer. The first prize at this draw is £75. There are an additional five prizes of £20 also available at each draw. If you would like more information about 'The 50 Club', please do not hesitate to contact a member of the Comus Club committee. If you would like to join 'The 50 Club', you will find a Standing Order Mandate overleaf.

The Comus Club
(<http://www.comus.org.uk/>)

Dear Cery's Austin-Prys

Following the most recent Comus Club meeting, I would like to cordially invite you to become a member of the Comus Club. The Comus Club is essentially the alumni organization for 'The Other Society' (Dramsoc). The Comus Club has a membership list of nearly 300 members and we have many more who we have lost contact with over the years. Invitation for membership is based on an active participation in 'The Other Society' and involvement in at least 2 'Other Society' shows.

If you would like to join the club, please fill out the enclosed membership form and return it to the College Secretary (Andre Refig). Although membership of the Comus Club is 'technically' free, you are strongly advised to purchase a Comus Club tie to avoid financial penalties (mentioned below) at the various social events held throughout the year. Ties are available from the Club Treasurer (Laurie Tweedale)

Regards,

Brian Tucker
Comus Club Chairman

The Comus Club

As an organization, The Comus Club, provides a link between the past and current members of 'The Other Society'. This bridge is maintained by a Bar Night in the Union Bar every First Tuesday of the month and the organisation of an annual Dinner that, by tradition, is always held on the second Friday after the First Tuesday in January. The annual Dinner normally attracts an attendance of around 100 members.

The Comus Club has several traditions, of which one carries a potentially 'costly' forfeit if not adhered too! If you accept membership of the Comus Club you will be asked to purchase a Comus Club Tie. If, on a First Tuesday, you are unable to produce the tie if asked to do so by another member of the Club, you are expected to buy a round of drinks for all Comus Club members present. Another tradition is the concept of 'The Pin'. When a Comus Club member elects to enter the state of '(w)holy' matrimony, they are presented with a rolling pin painted in the Comus Club colours. The Pin is inscribed with the 'wisdom' of the Club membership at the annual Dinner before being presented to the Comus Club member concerned.

'The 50 Club'

'The 50 Club' is a twice-yearly prize draw. '50 Club' membership is open to any member and costs £10 a year paid by Standing Order at the beginning of each calendar year. The money raised is used to pay out the prizes won at each draw and the remainder is used to help cover costs associated with running the Club such as postage for the Dinner invitations. The first draw takes place at the Dinner in January and has a first prize of £100. The second draw takes place at the Comus Club meeting during the summer. The first prize at this draw is £75. There are an additional five prizes of £20 also available at each draw. If you would like more information about 'The 50 Club', please do not hesitate to contact a member of the Comus Club committee. If you would like to join 'The 50 Club', you will find a Standing Order Mandate overleaf.

The Comus Club
(<http://www.comus.org.uk/>)

Dear Charlotte Coles,

Following the most recent Comus Club meeting, I would like to cordially invite you to become a member of the Comus Club. The Comus Club is essentially the alumni organization for 'The Other Society' (Dramsoc). The Comus Club has a membership list of nearly 300 members and we have many more who we have lost contact with over the years. Invitation for membership is based on an active participation in 'The Other Society' and involvement in at least 2 'Other Society' shows.

If you would like to join the club, please fill out the enclosed membership form and return it to the College Secretary (Andre Refig). Although membership of the Comus Club is 'technically' free, you are strongly advised to purchase a Comus Club tie to avoid financial penalties (mentioned below) at the various social events held throughout the year. Ties are available from the Club Treasurer (Laurie Tweedale)

Regards,

Brian Tucker
Comus Club Chairman

The Comus Club

As an organization, The Comus Club, provides a link between the past and current members of 'The Other Society'. This bridge is maintained by a Bar Night in the Union Bar every First Tuesday of the month and the organisation of an annual Dinner that, by tradition, is always held on the second Friday after the First Tuesday in January. The annual Dinner normally attracts an attendance of around 100 members.

The Comus Club has several traditions, of which one carries a potentially 'costly' forfeit if not adhered too! If you accept membership of the Comus Club you will be asked to purchase a Comus Club Tie. If, on a First Tuesday, you are unable to produce the tie if asked to do so by another member of the Club, you are expected to buy a round of drinks for all Comus Club members present. Another tradition is the concept of 'The Pin'. When a Comus Club member elects to enter the state of '(w)holy' matrimony, they are presented with a rolling pin painted in the Comus Club colours. The Pin is inscribed with the 'wisdom' of the Club membership at the annual Dinner before being presented to the Comus Club member concerned.

'The 50 Club'

'The 50 Club' is a twice-yearly prize draw. '50 Club' membership is open to any member and costs £10 a year paid by Standing Order at the beginning of each calendar year. The money raised is used to pay out the prizes won at each draw and the remainder is used to help cover costs associated with running the Club such as postage for the Dinner invitations. The first draw takes place at the Dinner in January and has a first prize of £100. The second draw takes place at the Comus Club meeting during the summer. The first prize at this draw is £75. There are an additional five prizes of £20 also available at each draw. If you would like more information about 'The 50 Club', please do not hesitate to contact a member of the Comus Club committee. If you would like to join 'The 50 Club', you will find a Standing Order Mandate overleaf.

The Comus Club
(<http://www.comus.org.uk/>)

Dear Dave Chulp,

Following the most recent Comus Club meeting, I would like to cordially invite you to become a member of the Comus Club. The Comus Club is essentially the alumni organization for 'The Other Society' (Dramsoc). The Comus Club has a membership list of nearly 300 members and we have many more who we have lost contact with over the years. Invitation for membership is based on an active participation in 'The Other Society' and involvement in at least 2 'Other Society' shows.

If you would like to join the club, please fill out the enclosed membership form and return it to the College Secretary (Andre Refig). Although membership of the Comus Club is 'technically' free, you are strongly advised to purchase a Comus Club tie to avoid financial penalties (mentioned below) at the various social events held throughout the year. Ties are available from the Club Treasurer (Laurie Tweedale)

Regards,

Brian Tucker
Comus Club Chairman

The Comus Club

As an organization, The Comus Club, provides a link between the past and current members of 'The Other Society'. This bridge is maintained by a Bar Night in the Union Bar every First Tuesday of the month and the organisation of an annual Dinner that, by tradition, is always held on the second Friday after the First Tuesday in January. The annual Dinner normally attracts an attendance of around 100 members.

The Comus Club has several traditions, of which one carries a potentially 'costly' forfeit if not adhered too! If you accept membership of the Comus Club you will be asked to purchase a Comus Club Tie. If, on a First Tuesday, you are unable to produce the tie if asked to do so by another member of the Club, you are expected to buy a round of drinks for all Comus Club members present. Another tradition is the concept of 'The Pin'. When a Comus Club member elects to enter the state of '(w)holy' matrimony, they are presented with a rolling pin painted in the Comus Club colours. The Pin is inscribed with the 'wisdom' of the Club membership at the annual Dinner before being presented to the Comus Club member concerned.

'The 50 Club'

'The 50 Club' is a twice-yearly prize draw. '50 Club' membership is open to any member and costs £10 a year paid by Standing Order at the beginning of each calendar year. The money raised is used to pay out the prizes won at each draw and the remainder is used to help cover costs associated with running the Club such as postage for the Dinner invitations. The first draw takes place at the Dinner in January and has a first prize of £100. The second draw takes place at the Comus Club meeting during the summer. The first prize at this draw is £75. There are an additional five prizes of £20 also available at each draw. If you would like more information about 'The 50 Club', please do not hesitate to contact a member of the Comus Club committee. If you would like to join 'The 50 Club', you will find a Standing Order Mandate overleaf.

The Comus Club
(<http://www.comus.org.uk/>)

Dear Duncan Pearse,

Following the most recent Comus Club meeting, I would like to cordially invite you to become a member of the Comus Club. The Comus Club is essentially the alumni organization for 'The Other Society' (Dramsoc). The Comus Club has a membership list of nearly 300 members and we have many more who we have lost contact with over the years. Invitation for membership is based on an active participation in 'The Other Society' and involvement in at least 2 'Other Society' shows.

If you would like to join the club, please fill out the enclosed membership form and return it to the College Secretary (Andre Refig). Although membership of the Comus Club is 'technically' free, you are strongly advised to purchase a Comus Club tie to avoid financial penalties (mentioned below) at the various social events held throughout the year. Ties are available from the Club Treasurer (Laurie Tweedale)

Regards,

Brian Tucker
Comus Club Chairman

The Comus Club

As an organization, The Comus Club, provides a link between the past and current members of 'The Other Society'. This bridge is maintained by a Bar Night in the Union Bar every First Tuesday of the month and the organisation of an annual Dinner that, by tradition, is always held on the second Friday after the First Tuesday in January. The annual Dinner normally attracts an attendance of around 100 members.

The Comus Club has several traditions, of which one carries a potentially 'costly' forfeit if not adhered too! If you accept membership of the Comus Club you will be asked to purchase a Comus Club Tie. If, on a First Tuesday, you are unable to produce the tie if asked to do so by another member of the Club, you are expected to buy a round of drinks for all Comus Club members present. Another tradition is the concept of 'The Pin'. When a Comus Club member elects to enter the state of '(w)holy' matrimony, they are presented with a rolling pin painted in the Comus Club colours. The Pin is inscribed with the 'wisdom' of the Club membership at the annual Dinner before being presented to the Comus Club member concerned.

'The 50 Club'

'The 50 Club' is a twice-yearly prize draw. '50 Club' membership is open to any member and costs £10 a year paid by Standing Order at the beginning of each calendar year. The money raised is used to pay out the prizes won at each draw and the remainder is used to help cover costs associated with running the Club such as postage for the Dinner invitations. The first draw takes place at the Dinner in January and has a first prize of £100. The second draw takes place at the Comus Club meeting during the summer. The first prize at this draw is £75. There are an additional five prizes of £20 also available at each draw. If you would like more information about 'The 50 Club', please do not hesitate to contact a member of the Comus Club committee. If you would like to join 'The 50 Club', you will find a Standing Order Mandate overleaf.

The Comus Club
(<http://www.comus.org.uk/>)

Dear James Dickens,

Following the most recent Comus Club meeting, I would like to cordially invite you to become a member of the Comus Club. The Comus Club is essentially the alumni organization for 'The Other Society' (Dramsoc). The Comus Club has a membership list of nearly 300 members and we have many more who we have lost contact with over the years. Invitation for membership is based on an active participation in 'The Other Society' and involvement in at least 2 'Other Society' shows.

If you would like to join the club, please fill out the enclosed membership form and return it to the College Secretary (Andre Refig). Although membership of the Comus Club is 'technically' free, you are strongly advised to purchase a Comus Club tie to avoid financial penalties (mentioned below) at the various social events held throughout the year. Ties are available from the Club Treasurer (Laurie Tweedale)

Regards,

Brian Tucker
Comus Club Chairman

The Comus Club

As an organization, The Comus Club, provides a link between the past and current members of 'The Other Society'. This bridge is maintained by a Bar Night in the Union Bar every First Tuesday of the month and the organisation of an annual Dinner that, by tradition, is always held on the second Friday after the First Tuesday in January. The annual Dinner normally attracts an attendance of around 100 members.

The Comus Club has several traditions, of which one carries a potentially 'costly' forfeit if not adhered too! If you accept membership of the Comus Club you will be asked to purchase a Comus Club Tie. If, on a First Tuesday, you are unable to produce the tie if asked to do so by another member of the Club, you are expected to buy a round of drinks for all Comus Club members present. Another tradition is the concept of 'The Pin'. When a Comus Club member elects to enter the state of '(w)holy' matrimony, they are presented with a rolling pin painted in the Comus Club colours. The Pin is inscribed with the 'wisdom' of the Club membership at the annual Dinner before being presented to the Comus Club member concerned.

'The 50 Club'

'The 50 Club' is a twice-yearly prize draw. '50 Club' membership is open to any member and costs £10 a year paid by Standing Order at the beginning of each calendar year. The money raised is used to pay out the prizes won at each draw and the remainder is used to help cover costs associated with running the Club such as postage for the Dinner invitations. The first draw takes place at the Dinner in January and has a first prize of £100. The second draw takes place at the Comus Club meeting during the summer. The first prize at this draw is £75. There are an additional five prizes of £20 also available at each draw. If you would like more information about 'The 50 Club', please do not hesitate to contact a member of the Comus Club committee. If you would like to join 'The 50 Club', you will find a Standing Order Mandate overleaf.

The Comus Club
(<http://www.comus.org.uk/>)

Dear Lily Topham,

Following the most recent Comus Club meeting, I would like to cordially invite you to become a member of the Comus Club. The Comus Club is essentially the alumni organization for 'The Other Society' (Dramsoc). The Comus Club has a membership list of nearly 300 members and we have many more who we have lost contact with over the years. Invitation for membership is based on an active participation in 'The Other Society' and involvement in at least 2 'Other Society' shows.

If you would like to join the club, please fill out the enclosed membership form and return it to the College Secretary (Andre Refig). Although membership of the Comus Club is 'technically' free, you are strongly advised to purchase a Comus Club tie to avoid financial penalties (mentioned below) at the various social events held throughout the year. Ties are available from the Club Treasurer (Laurie Tweedale)

Regards,

Brian Tucker
Comus Club Chairman

The Comus Club

As an organization, The Comus Club, provides a link between the past and current members of 'The Other Society'. This bridge is maintained by a Bar Night in the Union Bar every First Tuesday of the month and the organisation of an annual Dinner that, by tradition, is always held on the second Friday after the First Tuesday in January. The annual Dinner normally attracts an attendance of around 100 members.

The Comus Club has several traditions, of which one carries a potentially 'costly' forfeit if not adhered too! If you accept membership of the Comus Club you will be asked to purchase a Comus Club Tie. If, on a First Tuesday, you are unable to produce the tie if asked to do so by another member of the Club, you are expected to buy a round of drinks for all Comus Club members present. Another tradition is the concept of 'The Pin'. When a Comus Club member elects to enter the state of '(w)holy' matrimony, they are presented with a rolling pin painted in the Comus Club colours. The Pin is inscribed with the 'wisdom' of the Club membership at the annual Dinner before being presented to the Comus Club member concerned.

'The 50 Club'

'The 50 Club' is a twice-yearly prize draw. '50 Club' membership is open to any member and costs £10 a year paid by Standing Order at the beginning of each calendar year. The money raised is used to pay out the prizes won at each draw and the remainder is used to help cover costs associated with running the Club such as postage for the Dinner invitations. The first draw takes place at the Dinner in January and has a first prize of £100. The second draw takes place at the Comus Club meeting during the summer. The first prize at this draw is £75. There are an additional five prizes of £20 also available at each draw. If you would like more information about 'The 50 Club', please do not hesitate to contact a member of the Comus Club committee. If you would like to join 'The 50 Club', you will find a Standing Order Mandate overleaf.

The Comus Club
(<http://www.comus.org.uk/>)

Dear Siegfried Hodgeson,

Following the most recent Comus Club meeting, I would like to cordially invite you to become a member of the Comus Club. The Comus Club is essentially the alumni organization for 'The Other Society' (Dramsoc). The Comus Club has a membership list of nearly 300 members and we have many more who we have lost contact with over the years. Invitation for membership is based on an active participation in 'The Other Society' and involvement in at least 2 'Other Society' shows.

If you would like to join the club, please fill out the enclosed membership form and return it to the College Secretary (Andre Refig). Although membership of the Comus Club is 'technically' free, you are strongly advised to purchase a Comus Club tie to avoid financial penalties (mentioned below) at the various social events held throughout the year. Ties are available from the Club Treasurer (Laurie Tweedale)

Regards,

Brian Tucker
Comus Club Chairman

The Comus Club

As an organization, The Comus Club, provides a link between the past and current members of 'The Other Society'. This bridge is maintained by a Bar Night in the Union Bar every First Tuesday of the month and the organisation of an annual Dinner that, by tradition, is always held on the second Friday after the First Tuesday in January. The annual Dinner normally attracts an attendance of around 100 members.

The Comus Club has several traditions, of which one carries a potentially 'costly' forfeit if not adhered too! If you accept membership of the Comus Club you will be asked to purchase a Comus Club Tie. If, on a First Tuesday, you are unable to produce the tie if asked to do so by another member of the Club, you are expected to buy a round of drinks for all Comus Club members present. Another tradition is the concept of 'The Pin'. When a Comus Club member elects to enter the state of '(w)holy' matrimony, they are presented with a rolling pin painted in the Comus Club colours. The Pin is inscribed with the 'wisdom' of the Club membership at the annual Dinner before being presented to the Comus Club member concerned.

'The 50 Club'

'The 50 Club' is a twice-yearly prize draw. '50 Club' membership is open to any member and costs £10 a year paid by Standing Order at the beginning of each calendar year. The money raised is used to pay out the prizes won at each draw and the remainder is used to help cover costs associated with running the Club such as postage for the Dinner invitations. The first draw takes place at the Dinner in January and has a first prize of £100. The second draw takes place at the Comus Club meeting during the summer. The first prize at this draw is £75. There are an additional five prizes of £20 also available at each draw. If you would like more information about 'The 50 Club', please do not hesitate to contact a member of the Comus Club committee. If you would like to join 'The 50 Club', you will find a Standing Order Mandate overleaf.

The Comus Club
(<http://www.comus.org.uk/>)

Dear Tanya Knowles,

Following the most recent Comus Club meeting, I would like to cordially invite you to become a member of the Comus Club. The Comus Club is essentially the alumni organization for 'The Other Society' (Dramsoc). The Comus Club has a membership list of nearly 300 members and we have many more who we have lost contact with over the years. Invitation for membership is based on an active participation in 'The Other Society' and involvement in at least 2 'Other Society' shows.

If you would like to join the club, please fill out the enclosed membership form and return it to the College Secretary (Andre Refig). Although membership of the Comus Club is 'technically' free, you are strongly advised to purchase a Comus Club tie to avoid financial penalties (mentioned below) at the various social events held throughout the year. Ties are available from the Club Treasurer (Laurie Tweedale)

Regards,

Brian Tucker
Comus Club Chairman

The Comus Club

As an organization, The Comus Club, provides a link between the past and current members of 'The Other Society'. This bridge is maintained by a Bar Night in the Union Bar every First Tuesday of the month and the organisation of an annual Dinner that, by tradition, is always held on the second Friday after the First Tuesday in January. The annual Dinner normally attracts an attendance of around 100 members.

The Comus Club has several traditions, of which one carries a potentially 'costly' forfeit if not adhered too! If you accept membership of the Comus Club you will be asked to purchase a Comus Club Tie. If, on a First Tuesday, you are unable to produce the tie if asked to do so by another member of the Club, you are expected to buy a round of drinks for all Comus Club members present. Another tradition is the concept of 'The Pin'. When a Comus Club member elects to enter the state of '(w)holy' matrimony, they are presented with a rolling pin painted in the Comus Club colours. The Pin is inscribed with the 'wisdom' of the Club membership at the annual Dinner before being presented to the Comus Club member concerned.

'The 50 Club'

'The 50 Club' is a twice-yearly prize draw. '50 Club' membership is open to any member and costs £10 a year paid by Standing Order at the beginning of each calendar year. The money raised is used to pay out the prizes won at each draw and the remainder is used to help cover costs associated with running the Club such as postage for the Dinner invitations. The first draw takes place at the Dinner in January and has a first prize of £100. The second draw takes place at the Comus Club meeting during the summer. The first prize at this draw is £75. There are an additional five prizes of £20 also available at each draw. If you would like more information about 'The 50 Club', please do not hesitate to contact a member of the Comus Club committee. If you would like to join 'The 50 Club', you will find a Standing Order Mandate overleaf.

The Comus Club
(<http://www.comus.org.uk/>)

Dear Toby Neumaier,

Following the most recent Comus Club meeting, I would like to cordially invite you to become a member of the Comus Club. The Comus Club is essentially the alumni organization for 'The Other Society' (Dramsoc). The Comus Club has a membership list of nearly 300 members and we have many more who we have lost contact with over the years. Invitation for membership is based on an active participation in 'The Other Society' and involvement in at least 2 'Other Society' shows.

If you would like to join the club, please fill out the enclosed membership form and return it to the College Secretary (Andre Refig). Although membership of the Comus Club is 'technically' free, you are strongly advised to purchase a Comus Club tie to avoid financial penalties (mentioned below) at the various social events held throughout the year. Ties are available from the Club Treasurer (Laurie Tweedale)

Regards,

Brian Tucker
Comus Club Chairman

The Comus Club

As an organization, The Comus Club, provides a link between the past and current members of 'The Other Society'. This bridge is maintained by a Bar Night in the Union Bar every First Tuesday of the month and the organisation of an annual Dinner that, by tradition, is always held on the second Friday after the First Tuesday in January. The annual Dinner normally attracts an attendance of around 100 members.

The Comus Club has several traditions, of which one carries a potentially 'costly' forfeit if not adhered too! If you accept membership of the Comus Club you will be asked to purchase a Comus Club Tie. If, on a First Tuesday, you are unable to produce the tie if asked to do so by another member of the Club, you are expected to buy a round of drinks for all Comus Club members present. Another tradition is the concept of 'The Pin'. When a Comus Club member elects to enter the state of '(w)holy' matrimony, they are presented with a rolling pin painted in the Comus Club colours. The Pin is inscribed with the 'wisdom' of the Club membership at the annual Dinner before being presented to the Comus Club member concerned.

'The 50 Club'

'The 50 Club' is a twice-yearly prize draw. '50 Club' membership is open to any member and costs £10 a year paid by Standing Order at the beginning of each calendar year. The money raised is used to pay out the prizes won at each draw and the remainder is used to help cover costs associated with running the Club such as postage for the Dinner invitations. The first draw takes place at the Dinner in January and has a first prize of £100. The second draw takes place at the Comus Club meeting during the summer. The first prize at this draw is £75. There are an additional five prizes of £20 also available at each draw. If you would like more information about 'The 50 Club', please do not hesitate to contact a member of the Comus Club committee. If you would like to join 'The 50 Club', you will find a Standing Order Mandate overleaf.

The Comus Club
(<http://www.comus.org.uk/>)

Dear Tom Elliot

Following the most recent Comus Club meeting, I would like to cordially invite you to become a member of the Comus Club. The Comus Club is essentially the alumni organization for 'The Other Society' (Dramsoc). The Comus Club has a membership list of nearly 300 members and we have many more who we have lost contact with over the years. Invitation for membership is based on an active participation in 'The Other Society' and involvement in at least 2 'Other Society' shows.

If you would like to join the club, please fill out the enclosed membership form and return it to the College Secretary (Andre Refig). Although membership of the Comus Club is 'technically' free, you are strongly advised to purchase a Comus Club tie to avoid financial penalties (mentioned below) at the various social events held throughout the year. Ties are available from the Club Treasurer (Laurie Tweedale)

Regards,

Brian Tucker
Comus Club Chairman

The Comus Club

As an organization, The Comus Club, provides a link between the past and current members of 'The Other Society'. This bridge is maintained by a Bar Night in the Union Bar every First Tuesday of the month and the organisation of an annual Dinner that, by tradition, is always held on the second Friday after the First Tuesday in January. The annual Dinner normally attracts an attendance of around 100 members.

The Comus Club has several traditions, of which one carries a potentially 'costly' forfeit if not adhered too! If you accept membership of the Comus Club you will be asked to purchase a Comus Club Tie. If, on a First Tuesday, you are unable to produce the tie if asked to do so by another member of the Club, you are expected to buy a round of drinks for all Comus Club members present. Another tradition is the concept of 'The Pin'. When a Comus Club member elects to enter the state of '(w)holy' matrimony, they are presented with a rolling pin painted in the Comus Club colours. The Pin is inscribed with the 'wisdom' of the Club membership at the annual Dinner before being presented to the Comus Club member concerned.

'The 50 Club'

'The 50 Club' is a twice-yearly prize draw. '50 Club' membership is open to any member and costs £10 a year paid by Standing Order at the beginning of each calendar year. The money raised is used to pay out the prizes won at each draw and the remainder is used to help cover costs associated with running the Club such as postage for the Dinner invitations. The first draw takes place at the Dinner in January and has a first prize of £100. The second draw takes place at the Comus Club meeting during the summer. The first prize at this draw is £75. There are an additional five prizes of £20 also available at each draw. If you would like more information about 'The 50 Club', please do not hesitate to contact a member of the Comus Club committee. If you would like to join 'The 50 Club', you will find a Standing Order Mandate overleaf.

The Comus Club
(<http://www.comus.org.uk/>)

Dear Vivienne Chu,

Following the most recent Comus Club meeting, I would like to cordially invite you to become a member of the Comus Club. The Comus Club is essentially the alumni organization for 'The Other Society' (Dramsoc). The Comus Club has a membership list of nearly 300 members and we have many more who we have lost contact with over the years. Invitation for membership is based on an active participation in 'The Other Society' and involvement in at least 2 'Other Society' shows.

If you would like to join the club, please fill out the enclosed membership form and return it to the College Secretary (Andre Refig). Although membership of the Comus Club is 'technically' free, you are strongly advised to purchase a Comus Club tie to avoid financial penalties (mentioned below) at the various social events held throughout the year. Ties are available from the Club Treasurer (Laurie Tweedale)

Regards,

Brian Tucker
Comus Club Chairman

The Comus Club

As an organization, The Comus Club, provides a link between the past and current members of 'The Other Society'. This bridge is maintained by a Bar Night in the Union Bar every First Tuesday of the month and the organisation of an annual Dinner that, by tradition, is always held on the second Friday after the First Tuesday in January. The annual Dinner normally attracts an attendance of around 100 members.

The Comus Club has several traditions, of which one carries a potentially 'costly' forfeit if not adhered too! If you accept membership of the Comus Club you will be asked to purchase a Comus Club Tie. If, on a First Tuesday, you are unable to produce the tie if asked to do so by another member of the Club, you are expected to buy a round of drinks for all Comus Club members present. Another tradition is the concept of 'The Pin'. When a Comus Club member elects to enter the state of '(w)holy' matrimony, they are presented with a rolling pin painted in the Comus Club colours. The Pin is inscribed with the 'wisdom' of the Club membership at the annual Dinner before being presented to the Comus Club member concerned.

'The 50 Club'

'The 50 Club' is a twice-yearly prize draw. '50 Club' membership is open to any member and costs £10 a year paid by Standing Order at the beginning of each calendar year. The money raised is used to pay out the prizes won at each draw and the remainder is used to help cover costs associated with running the Club such as postage for the Dinner invitations. The first draw takes place at the Dinner in January and has a first prize of £100. The second draw takes place at the Comus Club meeting during the summer. The first prize at this draw is £75. There are an additional five prizes of £20 also available at each draw. If you would like more information about 'The 50 Club', please do not hesitate to contact a member of the Comus Club committee. If you would like to join 'The 50 Club', you will find a Standing Order Mandate overleaf.